Australian Gourmet Traveller Wine

October 2020

Angove reds often represent tremendous value for money. This one is medium to full bodied, and has richness and fruit concentration above its station, with hints of berry jam. Approachable now, yet cellarworthy. A gift at the price.

James Suckling | jamesuckling.com

June 2020

"This blend has a briary array of blackberries, blueberries and plums, framed in earth and oak nuances. The palate has really succulent red-fruit flavors and a smooth, easy balance. Drink now."

94 POINTS

James Halliday Wine Companion 2020

August 2019

"In the groove. Redcurrant and licorice flavours meet fistfuls of woody spice. It's generous and well shaped; it offers both quality and value. Licks of tannin here are pretty schmick too."

Sam Kim | wineorbit.co.nz

January 2019

A super comforting wine; the wonderfully fragrant bouquet shows dark plum, cranberry, cedar, olive and floral characters with a touch of vanilla. It is flavoursome and mouthfilling on the palate, delivering fabulous fruit purity and silky texture, making it highly appealing. At its best: now to 2024.
