An enticing bouquet of pear skin and fresh red apple, and Asian pear (nashi). There's a natural white spice, almost pepper-like scent and a distinctive mineral quality. Satin smooth texture on the palate, juicy fleshy, ripe and delicious. Medium+ (ish) weighted and lengthy on the finish. The texture and mouthfeel are part of the enticement on the palate a super fine fruit tannins mouthfeel adding to the satin touch. Delicious and ready to drink.

A gently savoury style with warm, earthy, saline aromas, subtle pear blossom and dried herbs. The palate is light and off-dry with softly chewy phenolics on the finish. The crunchy Nashi pear fruit is trimmed in very subtle smoky complexity and a hint of woody pear emerges at the end. A touch more grown-up than your typical crowd-pleaser without being too demanding. Well-judged, carefully made, and designed for immediate pleasure.
